Interview with Molly

Translation of the NS KAMPFRUF interview with Molly of MOURNINGTHEANCIENT.COM.

NSK: Please introduce yourself.

Molly: Hi there, I'm Molly from www.mourningtheancient.com. I'm one of the resident WWII historians (Adolf Hitler and the Army of Mankind) and the general web mistress. I also model for the website occasionally.

NSK: Please describe your political views.

Molly: I am a proud National Socialist. To me there is no other way. I think that National Socialism is the only thing that can save this planet. I believe each race and culture can adopt their own form of National Socialism. Each race should have national, cultural and racial pride. But each race should also stay in their own nature-ordained area on this planet. Race mixing harms each race involved. It is racial suicide.

NSK: When did you start your political work and what was your motivation to do so?

Molly: Truth be told, the very reason we began Mourning the Ancient (in the beginning there were three of us) was to spread the truth we had found through an entertainment medium. They say do what you know, and we knew music well, so we used music as our primary vehicle. We were young, I was still a teenager, back in 1995, and we were burning with ambition. But we also felt powerless and aimless. We experimented with our photography a lot in our spare time, and learned as much as we could. Information was rather hard to come by back then, pre-internet (for us at least). We received various newsletters and magazines from the racial underground. We especially loved William Pierce's stuff. We devoured his books Turner Diaries and Hunter, not to mention his magazine and various newsletter-type publications. Pierce was my greatest and most important living teacher. The things he taught me shocked and dismayed me. I couldn't believe some of the information. None of us could. I mean, we trusted him, but we had to find out for ourselves if some of the information was true. Some things took us a few years to verify, but we did eventually. Mind-blowing truths. They still shock me to this day. We used to receive a weak signal of his radio show here in Nebraska. We would crowd around this little radio, quiet as mice, and listen to his staticky voice. We were amazed that we could turn on our radio and hear the truth, for once in our lives. The forbidden and dangerous truth. It was thrilling and inspiring for me.

NSK: Are you organised?

Molly: No, I have stacks of books and papers everywhere! Haha. But I don't think that's what you meant. I'm not sure though how to answer this question, but I can say I've met some awesome people over the last 26 years and have made some great contacts. But ultimately I'm pretty much a loner these days. I think our Adolf Hitler and the Army of Mankind speaks for itself. I've poured years into it, and I think it shows. I get wonderful letters from all over the world and meet truly interesting, intelligent people. Our struggle attracts the best (and the worst) people in the world. Many people are led to the truth by instinct, they tell me. They've always known something was off in the world, but couldn't quite put their finger on it... and then... Adolf Hitler! I think that once you realize that you've been lied to about not only Him, but WWII, everything starts to fall into place. You start to question everything around you. You realize that your teachers in school lied. That they in turn were lied to. It goes deeper and deeper, until one day you realize it is a battle bigger than all of us. It is a war that began thousands of years ago, in the sands of ancient Sumeria, and which stretches into an unknown and uncertain future. To add a little context to the beginnings of our fight in Sumeria, here is an interesting tidbit:

'According to accepted views the early history of Mesopotamia is essentially the history of a racial conflict; its events represent stages in a deadly struggle between two inimical racial groups, Sumerians and Semites. In that struggle the Semites, who could draw on racial reserves in Syria and Arabia, came out victorious. After a long-drawn and bitter fight lasting through generations they defeated, under their gifted leader Sargon, the Sumerians, who were forced thenceforth farther and farther south. Except for a short-lived Sumerian "come-back" under the Third Dynasty of Ur, that victory made the Semites masters of Babylonia forever after.'

NSK: Being a female, how would you personally define the role of women in politics and society per se?

Gertrud Scholtz-Klink

Molly: I believe what the Führer believed, which is that women shouldn't be involved in politics. I think a woman's most important role is that of a mother. As a mother she is the teacher and shaper of the future. But a woman also has roles in society, like that of Gertrud Scholtz-Klink, to lead, organize and inspire generations of women -- to teach young girls how to be women. The National Socialists formed the Young Girls League (Jungmädelsbund) for girls 10-14, and the League of German Girls, for girls ages 14-18. I also think in wartime women have roles that they wouldn't have in peace. For example there were women who were used in Flak roles, or pilots even, ultimately I think we are now fighting a fight which goes beyond all traditional norms. I think women have to be used wherever they may help, whether that be in a traditional men's role or whatever. I'd even go so far as to say in this terrible struggle she should even be used in combat. I know that wasn't the norm in the Third Reich, but there were some powerful proponents who advocated for it. Like Hanna Reitsch, who volunteered to form a Kamakazi flight group (and be the first volunteer!). It's do or die. Our last stand. We are surrounded by our enemies. Our own racial Alamo. All of us Wehrwolves. We'll either bare our teeth and bite or lay down in the red snow and die.

Hanna Reitsch

NSK: Your country has already lost many people to Covid-19, mainly due to massive lack of prevention in the beginning and a weak healthcare system. Would you blame the government?

Molly: Hmm... a tricky question. I think the whole Covid thing is being used as a political weapon. Perhaps it is a tool to take away our rights, it sure seems like it. I've known a handful of people who have had it, and they've told me a variety of things. Some people caught a more severe form of the flu, while others reported it wasn't that bad. I've also known a few old people who have died from it, but they all had co-morbidities, like diabetes, etc. The government's insane lockdowns have butchered small businesses and the economy in general. But they just keep printing their fiat currency like it is some magical money. Meanwhile the mega companies like Amazon report record business due to the lockdowns. It's all rather insane, and now I'm just waiting for them to force people to get their poisonous vaccination. It's already happening in England and France. If you don't have the vax you are restricted from going pretty much everywhere. They are making billions and billions with their phony vaccinations. Even though studies show vaccinated people catch this flu as often, and in some studies, more, than unvaccinated people. Now they talk of endless 'variants' and 'boosters'. Will this madness ever end?

NSK: How strong is the enemy in your country?

Molly: Well, we all know that the Enemy chose the United States as its headquarters since the end of WWII. So the Enemy is quite strong here. If not for our 'pesky' constitution we'd all probably be in prison camps or mass graves by now. But with the internet, something the Enemy never could have planned for, its power has been weakened. Information that was once nearly impossible to find now is at your fingertips. Unfortunately this is changing and censorship is gaining ground like never before. But people are on to their lies. Truth has 'infected' the world. More people than ever before have learned the truth about what's happened and what's happening. The bottom line is if we lose this war there won't be a Gulag in our future, there will be an unmarked mass grave. At least we'll be buried in good company though. Haha. But seriously, the traffic on our website has risen dramatically. When Trump was running for President, the first time, traffic absolutely exploded. And the most visited parts of the website, by many times over, were the WWII truth sections. I can tell you this: there are a whole hell of a lot more people who are on to Them than we imagine. A quiet majority. The lurkers. Let's just hope they come out of the shadows soon and join us or it will be too late. People need to stop worrying about their names being put on some list. Those lists are badges of honor. Stand up and fight or lay down and die. Just stay legal and you have very little to worry about. And to our brothers and sisters in Occupied Europe, where freedom pretty much doesn't exist, be smart, work and fight in the shadows. Remain anonymous. We are with you!

NSK: What are the main problems of your country nowadays?

Molly: Wow, I don't think we have room on our hard drives for that answer! But seriously, things have gone absolutely insane. I mean like we could never have imagined. I follow politics and this clown world pretty closely, so I see it all. I can't believe how crazy it has gotten and in such a short amount of time. It's like the Enemy imagines he sees victory and has gotten excited, let down his guard, and gone full blown globohomo in fast forward. You know, dropping his cards and just drooling at the bit. We have toddler trannies, drag queens reading to our children in libraries, children getting hormonally mutilated to try to change their sex, teenagers getting 'sex change' surgeries, our founding fathers' statues being torn down and vandalized, traditional white authors being banned from libraries and schools, children being taught in school that their ancestors were evil and that they themselves are evil... I could go on and on. One of the greatest videos I've seen documenting the war on White people is right here: <https://www.bitchute.com/video/HUQZaer4iIMI/> - I normally don't like to drop URLs because they are deleted so often, but hopefully some of you will be able to view this video, save it and repost it before that happens. One of our anonymous comrades spent an incredible amount of time on this and it is truly a spectacular job. It'll make your blood boil and your skin crawl.

NSK: Your various projects are labeled as "Mourning the Ancient". Which ancient times do you exactly mean by that and why do you mourn it?

Molly: You know I was always into the past. Whether it be the ancient Sumerians (who were a White race, by the way. History books from the 1800s even refer to them as 'the Great White Ones', yet now they have made them non-White, like so many other historical figures...), the Spartans, Greeks, Romans, Vikings, Celts, Germanic tribes, and even the non-White races like the Inca, Aztec, Mayan, etc. etc. I think they possessed a freedom and unity we could only dream of. But ultimately it's a great misnomer. When I dream about the past, I go directly to the twelve magical years of National Socialist Germany. A time of greatness never before experienced in history. Culturally, artistically and technologically there was a vast leap. But also socially. It brought out the greatness in people. I've studied the Third Reich until my eyes bled practically and yet feel like I've only scratched the surface. Like one lifetime truly isn't enough to learn of their mighty struggle and magical victories. There is still such a mystery surrounding them. Our National Socialist mothers and fathers are our Knights of Camelot. Adolf Hitler is of course our King Arthur. They are such a legend to us young ones, those born decades after Their martyrdom. Sometimes it seems like they must have been some great dream, or some grand illusion, nothing so spectacular could have existed on this old, sad, corrupt earth. Yet, they were real. It will never cease to amaze me. And I must say, men like Gerhard Lauck have kept the dream alive, all these hard years. He has battled doubt, loneliness, betrayal, incarceration in a foreign country, and all the rest of the daily darknesses, and come out on top. He's never bent, never tired, and has kept the heart of our dream beating, all of these embattled years. It's men like him, with the very world against him, but who fight on. Come what [deleted] may. To you, Gerhard Lauck!
